DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 48-50, 54-56, 59, and 61-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Applicants amendment dated June 10, 2008 omits from independent claim 48 the steps of 1) "dividing liquid glass delivered via at least one discharge opening into successive second portions" in line 15 and 2) "guiding the second portions into a second mold part positioned adjacent the first mold part" in line 17. By removing the instant limitations, Applicant has effectively broadened the scope of the claim 48 to cover subject material which is not supported by the specification as originally filed.

For example, the pending claim 48 presently reads upon a process which utilizes a single portion of liquid glass, positioning a figure at least partially into said single portion, pressing the single portion with figurine, and modeling the resultant formed mass by omnidirectional rolling.

In contrast regarding the embodiments employing discharge of glass and a figure into a mold (e.g. not the embodiments of ¶[0005], and figs 3-5), Applicants disclosure exclusively teaches the use of first and second glass portions but nowhere discloses the employment of a single piece of glass. This point was underscored in the Official Action dated December 10, 2004 wherein Applicant was advised that the step of “pressing a heated figurine into the glass after introducing the glass into a mold cavity” was not supported by the disclosure of this application or the parent application” (see page 3). In the reply dated February 2, 2006, Applicant acknowledges the Examiners position regarding lack of support for the instant subject material, cancelling the claims at issue, but provides substantially no rebuttal to the stated position. Further, one of ordinary skill in the art would not necessarily have been apprised of such embodiments in view of the specification as originally filed.

The first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 requires that the “specification shall contain a written description of the invention, but this requirement is separate and distinct from the enablement requirement. See, e.g., Vas-Cath, Inc. v. Mahurkar, 935 F.2d 1555, 1560, 19 USPQ2d 1111, 1114 (Fed. Cir. 1991). See also Univ. of Rochester v. G.D. Searle & Co., 358 F.3d 916, 920-23, 69 USPQ2d 1886, 1890-93 (Fed. Cir. 2004) ; In re Curtis, 354 F.3d 1347, 1357, 69 USPQ2d 1274, 1282 (Fed. Cir. 2004) (“conclusive evidence of a claim’s enablement is not equally conclusive of that claim’s satisfactory written description”). While the recited steps in the instant claim may be enabled, the specification does not provide a written description consistent in scope with the claimed invention.

To satisfy the written description requirement, a patent specification must describe the claimed invention in sufficient detail that one skilled in the art can reasonably conclude that the inventor had possession of the claimed invention. See, e.g., Moba, B.V. v. Diamond Automation, Inc., 325 F.3d 1306, 1319, 66 USPQ2d 1429, 1438 (Fed. Cir. 2003); Vas-Cath, Inc. v. Mahurkar, 935 F.2d at 1563, 19 USPQ2d at 111. The fundamental factual inquiry is whether the specification conveys with reasonable clarity to those skilled in the art that, as of the filing date sought, applicant was in possession of the invention as now claimed. See, e.g., Vas-Cath, Inc., 935 F.2d at 1563-64, 19 USPQ2d at 1117.

Further, the MPEP §2163 states that;

“Under certain circumstances, omission of a limitation can raise an issue regarding whether the inventor had possession of a broader, more generic invention. See, e.g., PIN /NIP, Inc. v. Platte Chem. Co., 304 F.3d 1235, 1248, 64 USPQ2d 1344, 1353 (Fed. Cir. 2002); Gentry Gallery, Inc. v. Berkline Corp., 134 F.3d 1473, 45 USPQ2d 1498 (Fed. Cir. 1998).

In the instant case, it is the Examiners position that Applicant's specification as originally filed has not provided adequate evidence of possession of the broader, more generic invention as set forth claim 48. Restated, while the specification provides support for discharge of a first portion of glass into a mold, placement of a figurine on the first portion of glass, and discharge of a second portion of glass on top of the first portion of glass, the specification does not reasonably provide support for the broader process which omits the use of the second portion of glass.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
